Letter From Walla Walla.

WALLA WALLA, May 24, 1865.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

To those who made their homes here as early as 1858 and 1859, the changes that have taken place since that date, appear great and wonderful indeed. Not much in the shape of money was to be found here then, and the whole number of settlers then in the valley did not, perhaps, exceed fifty. "Tempora mutantur et nos mutamur in illis," sang the Latin bard. Yes, truly, "Times are changed and we are changed with them." For then, almost every one was necessarily dependent upon the patronage of the United States Quartermaster [illegible] at Fort Walla Walla to buy his grain and farm produce generally, and it was as difficult for a plain, straightforward farmer to dispose of his cereals without all kinds of "boot-licking" and servility as it is for a "camel to pass through the eye of a needle," but now all hands have a "show" at the plethoric purse of generous Uncle Samuel.

An observable change, too, has taken place in the social status of the people; that odious toadyism so much in vogue during the olden times of Walla Walla has been numbered among the things that were. A more reasonable and healthy mode of thinking now obtains, and a new comer is no longer welcomed among us with kind greetings proportionate to the peculiar style of his coat, the newness of his pants, or the fullness of his purse; brains, character and true merit are now regarded as the sine qua non to a recognized position among the intelligent and honorable. In short, the gradual transition from the rough and crude to our present grades of civilization and refinement, has been to me an interesting subject of contemplation and study. Still there is abundant room for improvement in the condition of society; our schools are in a much better state than formerly; shortly we will be able to hold up our heads and look in the face of that stranger from the East who a year ago had the assurance to assert in our presence that he "had not met with three persons east of the Cascade Mountains who could speak the English language correctly."

Letters received from St. Paul state that a heavy emigration will leave Minnesota for the Territories of Montana, Idaho and Washington. They will travel by what is called the Northern route. In this connection it is unfortunate for us that the wagon road hence to the Bitter Root valley is, in some portions, not now in a passable state for wagons. We are told that from the Coeur d'Alene Mission to the Bitter Root valley, a stretch of some fifty miles, the road is blocked up with fallen timber; nevertheless, a train of some twenty teams, with brave, energetic men in charge, could keep moving without much delay and arrive here in due season. On former occasions we have modestly suggested to the Commander of the Military District of Oregon the propriety of sending out a company of soldiers from some post on the Columbia, in charge of an energetic officer, whose duty it shall be to cut out the fallen timber, repair bridges, and otherwise put the route, for the distance mentioned, in travelable order.

We see daily, plenty of stout and strong soldiers loitering around lager-beer saloons and sitting on dry-goods boxes on Main street, who would make capital road-repairers. It is not too late yet to issue orders to that effect. A little relaxation of the "red tape" rules, if you please, would go very far towards clearing away the line of road between the Catholic Mission and the Bitter Root River, as above stated. The War Department has already spent some $300,000 on this road, and it will be a great pity to let it be closed against eastern emigration, while we have troops at our garrisons going through routine duty, where peace and quiet reigns. Our own idea of a soldier's duty takes in more than the mere handling of a musket or standing sentinel. Having been over the line several times between here and Fort Benton, we, of course, speak knowingly of these things.

Freighters, packers and others are out on the different roads leading to the mining camps.

A number of pack trains left yesterday for Kootenai. Letters received here tell of much suffering in the Kootenai district. It is thought that provisions have reached the hungered there [illegible] this.

The Walla Walla mechanics seem to be pretty actively employed in their various arts and vocations.

The lawyers have a respite until the October term of the Court, while the Doctors—regulars and quacks—and venders of patent (humbugs) medicines find something to do in their line.

Yours, &c., AJAX.

PERSONAL RECOLLECTIONS OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN.—It so happened that I first met the late President in the year 1847 at court in Tazewell county, Illinois. He was then a man in his prime—pushing and persevering professionally, but not politically ambitious. The late General E. D. Baker, his rival, was the reverse. He pushed politics more than his profession. At that day I thought Abraham Lincoln the most convivial man I ever saw, and think so yet. But whatever animal spirits he possessed were natural to him; he neither drank nor smoked. He was distinguished for industry. He struck easy blows and escaped making personal enemies. In the year 1858 I was entertained at his house. He inquired most particularly after Gen. Baker, and I soon discovered that he held his deceased friend in the highest esteem. He said Illinois knew how to appreciate such men, and was surprised that California "had not comprehended Baker."

Mr. Lincoln was a man of fine literary acquirements, although it seemed to be the cast the classes aside when he became President. I think that his intellectual fame will rest more substantially upon the basis of his debates with Senator Douglas, in the tourney between them for a seat in the United States Senate, than for any performance after he became Chief Magistrate. He was a friendly man, a good citizen, an obliging neighbor and the idol of his family. Others will dwell upon his statesmanship, which is familiar to all, and the people at large will forever remember him as a good man.—S. F. Bulletin.

TRANSPLANTING AT NIGHT.—A friend, in whose power of observation, says the Working Farmer, we have confidence, and who is an exact experimenter, informs us that last spring and summer he made the following experiment. He transplanted ten cherry trees in blossom, commencing at four o'clock in the afternoon, and transplanting one each hour until one in the morning. Those transplanted during daylight shed their blossoms, producing little or no fruit, while those planted during the darker portions maintained their conditions fully. He did the same with ten dwarf pear trees after the fruit was one third grown. Those transplanted during the day shed their fruit; those transplanted during the night perfected their crop, and showed no injury from having been removed. With each of these he removed some earth with the roots.

The Russian government, as a consequence of the emancipation of the peasants, has just taken measures for the diffusion of instruction among the agricultural population. An additional budget of four hundred and fifty thousand roubles for the year 1865, has been decreed, which provides for the founding of numerous village schools.

It is reported that the records of Libby Prison, from its commencement to its close, have been secured by Gen. Weitzel, and will be preserved for future reference. They show the date and the name of every man who entered there, and the time he died or was exchanged.

The men are leaving the Springfield Armory in companies, being discharged. The force is to be reduced one third, which will leave 1000 men. There are now 340,000 muskets in the arsenal.

[illegible], an old man of New Haven, was very much affected by the news of President Lincoln's decease, and after appearing very depressed a few days, he dropped dead in the evening.

Col. Z. [illegible] Taylor [illegible] Davis [illegible] twenty years ago, [illegible] called him "an unprincipled scoundrel [illegible]."

TUESDAY MORNING MAY [illegible]

Labor at the South

It may now be assumed that the [illegible] compulsory [illegible] at the South [illegible] at an end. The former master has no [illegible] upon the serf. [illegible] the war has made free and whose freedom will [illegible] be confirmed beyond the power [illegible] by means [illegible] fundamental law. Under the rule of freedom [illegible] will however be just as numerous in the South as they were under the old system of servitude and there will be the same [illegible] of labor to be performed when [illegible] its energies than there was [illegible] the regime [illegible]. And since [illegible] happily be [illegible] no longer exist it remains for the people of the South to adopt the [illegible] now and [illegible] enter upon that system of free labor which prevails in all civilized [illegible] true and which [illegible] the primal source and true basis of all real prosperity.

It will probably be a considerable time before the quantity of products which the South affords will be equal to the productions of former years. Of course this fact will be urged by the devotees of slavery as an argument against the utility of the new system. But it must be remembered that the whole Southern country has been overrun by the National armies that during the war it has produced absolutely nothing except what was required for immediate consumption, and that every branch of its business is completely paralyzed hence it can not be expected to recuperate at once. Its recovery and growth will certainly be very rapid for many of the materials of its former prosperity still remain, and these will be wrought into the plan which is to be developed and built up. But if the exports of cotton, sugar and tobacco should not hereafter be equal to what they have heretofore been it will be a very small matter. Mankind has another destiny than to produce cotton. Society was organized for other purposes than to expend all the energies of its members in the endeavor to export the greatest possible quantity of commodities. Man was not made solely to benefit commerce but commerce is to be subordinated to the purposes of man's being. The object of society is to protect men in the enjoyment of their social civil and natural rights. For it to be given up exclusively to the production of cotton and sugar without a care as to the method by which it is done, is a departure from the ends for which it was instituted and the flagrant injustice that is thus committed must soon produce evil results similar to those our country has seen.

But with the new impetus that will be given to enterprise of all kinds the South will very soon outdo its former self. In other places where existing systems of servitude have been abolished the effect has been by no means disastrous. From Jamaica and the West India Islands there was a temporary falling off of exports for a short time after the emancipation of the slaves, but trade soon recovered, and the amount of exports rose to higher figures than ever before. Even this transient reduction was attributable to good causes. The reason for it did not lie in the supposition that the freed men were too indolent to work without compulsion but in the fact that their industry was to a considerable extent directed to making provisions for their personal wants since these had never been supplied before. The desire for gain is a thing common among all men. It is an influence which will always cause men to be industrious when it is felt that themselves will reap the full reward of their labor.

Great numbers of energetic and enterprising men will go from all quarters to the South as soon as quiet is restored. Each one of these will be seeking how he may best advance his own interests. The new comer will do his own work or pay for the labor which others perform for him. The labor of the country will thus be distributed in the best manner and the system under which the other sections have grown wealthy will enrich the South. None, save those who have been guilty of the injustice of living by the labor of other men will ever regret the change that is making. Their own madness and the necessities of the times have forced the people of the South to relinquish the system, which though the bane of their true prosperity, they fondly clung to, but a few years will develop an order of things better for all the interests of that people than anything they have ever before known.

[illegible] Quiet. It will be remembered that the rebel newspapers predicted that peace would not ensue even if their military power should be broken but that the people of the South would organize in bands of sufficient strength to harass the occupants of the soil so that there could never be any other feeling than that of complete terror among those Union men who should presume to remain anywhere in the South. Democrats who had been at last disabused of the old fire-to-one theory eagerly accepted this new prediction for truth and vehemently reiterated the boast that the guerrillas could not be subdued. This has turned out precisely like every other prediction which rebels North and South have made. Recent events show that their hopes are ill founded. Guerrillas everywhere are disbanding. Even if they should be disposed to continue hostilities they could only plunder the inhabitants of their own States. They could never interfere with a large organized force or in any way obstruct the operations of an army. Since the rebels have no regular force in the field the remainder of those depredators will soon disband. There are no examples where this irregular mode of warfare has prevailed except auxiliary to the operations of regular armies. We are therefore to take this as the expiring boast of the [illegible] bility of the departed chivalry.

There is no way by which this mail can be continued except by earnest intercession with the Department for that purpose. Senator Williams and Mr. Henderson [illegible] in the East and have probably made every endeavor they could to have the service continued. The people must now take the matter in hand. The whole subject ought to be laid before the Department by the people themselves. It is [illegible] than to delay longer. All who appreciate how great a convenience the daily mail is should work with all earnestness for [illegible].

[illegible] A letter from a gentleman in Leavenworth, Kansas, to his brother in Oregon mentions that [illegible] acres of machinery for quartz mills are crossing the plains this summer bound for Owyhee and other parts of Idaho. The writer says the machinery is of the latest patterns and the finest and the mines of Idaho. Those who are anxious to have their ledges worked will be glad to hear that plenty of mills are on their way.

Shall We Lose our Daily Mail?

[illegible] the Daily Mail [illegible] Sacramento [illegible] The country has become accustomed to [illegible]

[illegible] exaggerate the [illegible]

[illegible] A private letter lately received by a gentleman in town [illegible] the following interesting items [illegible]

"Since writing you last the appearance of things here have changed very much. The weather is quite warm and the snow is [illegible] rapidly disappearing rapidly. Provisions are plenty but high and the people crawl out of their holes and laugh old Despondency in the face. A large amount of people are coming in from California and altogether our streets present a lively appearance. Wells, Fargo & Co. have established an office here. We also have two new stage offices talked of, one of the lines to run to Sacramento via Star City, the other to Red Bluff, bringing passengers through for $50, time 10 days from Red Bluff and eight days from San Francisco via Star City, and both will shortly carry the U. S. Mails. Twenty large teams loaded with goods are now on their way here from Red Bluff and many more are expected to be on the Humboldt route bound here. So you see we anticipate a good time coming, at least all do so. Town lots have gone up 100 per cent. during the past week.

Few men have an idea how much money the gusmill has taken out this winter. The Oro Fino has yielded upwards of $200,000 paying an enormous profit. They have a tunnel in on that ledge 400 feet and a shaft down passing the end of the tunnel 120 feet deep from the surface showing splendid ore all through the work.

The main shaft in the Morning Star is down 125 feet. They have run a tunnel 200 feet north and 40 feet south finding splendid ore in the whole line. It is estimated that between two levels 250 feet long and 75 feet apart there is 3,000 tons that will yield a gross amount of $1,000,000 which can be easily worked this year with their 16 stamps. The first extension north everybody believes to be as good. There will not be much [illegible] towards working these claims this summer unless it is by the work of a [illegible] companies the shareholders of which are able and enterprising citizens of Portland.

For instance there is the "Calaveras" that actually assays $6,000 to the ton. The richest thing in the country. Likely [illegible] than any year nobody north of San Francisco being able to buy them out and they [illegible] not able to put up the proper machinery. The Eureka is in the same fix. [illegible] from this mine that will pay for a ten stamp mill in a thirty days run. I might mention other ledges that promise equally as good prospects. Many people came in here from Washoe boasting of their [illegible] but they have only to get to the Morning Star when they wilt like a cabbage leaf in a hot sun.

There is but little work doing yet on account of the surface water. It will be late before new work can be commenced advantageously. After all the winter is the best time to open a mine here. [illegible] we have no water to contend with and all that is required is to house your shaft when you can work as comfortable as you can in a house in any [illegible] country. The road can be hauled on sleds better and easier than it can on wagons. I got the [illegible] raised and hauled ore and ran the mill all winter. Now the road is impassable, but the quartz is running and I have enough quartz on hand to keep it going until the roads become good. [illegible]

We expect to see [illegible] some of the New York capitalists that we have heard of so much. I have no doubt they will have some difficulty to find their claims and may find it cheaper to buy something else than to hunt them up. If any of them should happen through mistake to get into your place [illegible]

They were armed with Henry's rifles [illegible] keeping the redskins away. These men escaped to South Pass Station yesterday. Major Baldwin, by order of [illegible] commanding the District, left Fort Bridger early [illegible] with 100 men, to overtake and [illegible] the Indians. They took wire with them to repair the line and will probably reach the break to-morrow which it is hoped the line will be repaired and in working order. The men from St. Mary's reported the Indians to have gone east from there.

"[illegible]" [illegible] The following remarkable paragraph comes from a Western paper:

About eight miles from Shelbyville [illegible] is the little town of Marrs [illegible] a place noted for nothing in particular save the virulent type of Copperheadism prevailing there. The reception of the dreadful news from Washington fell the land of Democrats thereabouts [illegible] In the absence of a cannon they loaded and fired an anvil repeatedly, shouted, danced, sang and in every possible manner gave expression to their demoniac joy, after which they constructed an effigy of President Lincoln with a crude representation of the bullet hole in his head which they carried about the streets [illegible] and bringing a bell. The effigy was afterward burnt.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—[illegible] the work of [illegible] street [illegible] present season, has got been abandoned, but that [illegible] Council now design [illegible] the Nicholson Pavement [illegible] plank. This pavement [illegible] of quite at length in those [illegible] of judgment as the durability of [illegible] our city will be improved [illegible] that the property owners [illegible] of street work, will [illegible] of one good street [illegible] the community [illegible] been inflicted upon them by [illegible] neighbors of past years. [illegible] will enhance the value of [illegible] the above ground. [illegible] thoroughly tested in Chicago, [illegible] other cities, and it has been [illegible] people want no other kind. [illegible] San Francisco is beginning to speak [illegible] Banks & Co., [illegible] E. B. Badlam, [illegible] Appleton & Co., [illegible] Telegraph Company, [illegible] Major Bull of the U. S. A., [illegible] Alta, all speak [illegible]. In all cities where once used [illegible] to the exclusion of all other work [illegible] of street improvements [illegible] desire to see it generally in use here.

[illegible]—We have our arrangements now [illegible] for addressing the DAILY and WEEKLY [illegible] to subscribers with printed [illegible] plain, certain, and timely direction of their [illegible] papers for each mail. It will also [illegible] a strict account against [illegible] they will have both in the best possible form [illegible] address which is perpetually before the [illegible] indicating the date to which he has paid for [illegible] paper. The following is a sample of the form used: John Smith [illegible] which shows that the time of [illegible] to John Smith's paper expires [illegible] at which time it will be discontinued [illegible]. In return for [illegible] of every subscriber, viz., that he renew his [illegible], in every case practicable, at least two weeks [illegible] before it expires. [illegible] upon so much extra care, labor and expense, [illegible] the various "Account Addresses" [illegible] and corrected in the type forms, thereby [illegible] the percentage of errors and [illegible] please aid us to [illegible] this plan.

[illegible] STEAMER [illegible] S. Wright [illegible] left this port for Victoria [illegible] was rumored that the Russian Telegraph Company [illegible] chased her to run in connection with those [illegible] constructing the great line. Capt. Lewis [illegible] was not certain that the [illegible] to interrupt the trade, which [illegible] to establish for two years [illegible] and the British Possessions, we preferred to wait [illegible] of the sale before alluding to it. [illegible] of the California Company [illegible] evening from the north, we learn that the [illegible] been sold; that after discharging the cargo [illegible] coal at Nanaimo and proceed to San Francisco [illegible] would be turned over to the Company [illegible]. We hope another vessel may be found soon to [illegible] place thus vacated in this trade, and become a [illegible] fixture. The frequent interruptions [illegible] chance for the confidence of the public [illegible] to pay very well. When the Government will [illegible] a foreign vessel to enter the seaport of Oregon is [illegible] question?

[illegible] SALE.—Mr. O'Connor, Administrator [illegible] estate of Wm. L. Avery deceased, gives notice in [illegible] column of a sale by Auctioneer Kilbourne [illegible] consisting of stationery, books, photographic [illegible] etc. We would particularly impress upon the public [illegible] it is essential that this sale be made as profitable [illegible] as possible. It is an unfortunate affair for [illegible] and her orphan children, and it is not without [illegible] that we allude to it [illegible] but if the bidders can be found Mr. [illegible] Kilbourne will do their utmost to relieve her [illegible].

[illegible] CROPS.—Speaking of the crops in Oregon, the [illegible] Journal of the 20th says: "From all parts of [illegible] Valley and from Southern Oregon, we [illegible] the farming interests of our State. The [illegible] for an abundant harvest of oats and wheat was [illegible] flattering. In this county the amount of grain [illegible] greater than that of any previous year. The [illegible] promises to be larger than was ever known. [illegible] crops are reported to be more promising than [illegible]."

[illegible] WORKS.—We presume of course that our good [illegible] will not permit the Glorious Fourth to pass [illegible] will begin preparations shortly for a magnificent [illegible]. We trust so, at least. Mr. George Hughes [illegible] of the Ordnance department of the [illegible] to office, towns and private parties [illegible] operations in Portland and will be enabled [illegible] any desired amount of fire works on that [illegible] advertisement.

[illegible] CITY WOOLEN MANUFACTURING COMPANY.—The [illegible] machinery for the new and important branch [illegible] about to be started at Oregon City, arrived by [illegible], and was transferred to the steamer Senator, [illegible]. A large amount is yet to arrive, but it is [illegible] works will be in operation by fall.

[illegible] ENTERPRISE.—The cargo of the schooner [illegible] is consigned to Mr. J. P. Walker, and not to [illegible] Hedge, as was erroneously stated. It consists of [illegible] of red wood lumber, purchased by Mr. W. [illegible] visit to California. The steamer Julia was [illegible] yesterday to bring her to port.

[illegible] H. BLACK.—This gentleman, who has been long [illegible] from the city, spending a season in California for [illegible] benefit of his health, is expected by the steamship [illegible] Jonathan, to arrive this evening. His friends [illegible] to meet him, but will regret to learn that his [illegible] has not been greatly improved.

[illegible].—Night before last and yesterday, a shower of [illegible] duration visited this portion of country, doing [illegible] lay dust, and allay the heat by cooling the [illegible], besides being an immense benefit to gardens.

[illegible] CITY.—The steamer Senator, Capt. Kellogg [illegible] Vaughn's wharf for Oregon City, to accommodate [illegible] all who may wish to attend the ball, at [illegible] o'clock [illegible] to-morrow. Returning will leave Oregon City the [illegible] morning at 5 o'clock A. M.

[illegible] STEAMSHIP.—The steamship Brother Jonathan, [illegible] Wolf Commander, left San Francisco on Saturday last [illegible], and should arrive at this port to-night [illegible] passage.

[illegible].—Wm. Burnett, Esq., United States [illegible] of steamer boilers for the Pacific coast, is at present [illegible] the city on his annual tour of inspection, as for [illegible] past.

[illegible] BELL.—The bell, together with the wheel, frame, [illegible], etc., lately ordered by the Council for Protection Engine Company No. 4, has arrived and will be discharged [illegible] the vessel bringing it, at Couch's wharf to-day.

REMOVAL.—The San Francisco Auction Store has been [illegible] to 100 First street, near the Western Hotel. See [illegible].

The Funeral

I

The ground is white with apple blossoms,
As though a fragrant snow lay there,
And from the meadows' breezy bosoms
The blackbirds' music fills the air;
But he who heard the robin whistle,
Last Spring, among the apple's bloom,
The Liberator, Father, Saviour—
The Martyr—passes to the tomb.

II

Through the long avenues of cities,
Through the commingling people's tears
Marshaled by sighs, and sobs, and pities,
The sacred relics onward come.
The very heavens themselves are weeping
While tears fill every earthly eye,
As mournfully, the cortege, sweeping
To solemn dirges, passes by.

III

Toll slowly, bells, toll very slowly
Mourning in anguish a nation's woe
Boom minute guns most melancholy—
Heaven's thunder echoed from below!
Close every door, shut every casement,
Drape every banner's folds with black;
Mourn, silent streets, from roof to basement,
He journeys hence, who comes not back.

IV.

Through the long cycles of the ages,
Searching the safe vaults of Time
Blazoned in gold on history's pages
No fairer name stands more sublime;
And since the awful crucifixion
And since the damned deed of Cain,
No kindlier lives of such affliction,
None greater numbered with the slain.

IV

The ground is white with apple blossoms,

And from the meadows' breezy bosoms
The blackbirds' music fills the air;
But he who heard the robin whistle,

Philadelphia, April 27, 1865.

Sherman's Official Report.

The following narrative of General Sherman's march from Savannah to Branchville, is of much interest. It is comprised in that distinguished officer's report to the War Department. This report explains the original plan of the campaign. It was fulfilled in every particular with wonderful precision. The report was addressed to General Halleck, Chief of Staff.

HEADQUARTERS MIL. DIV. OF THE MISS.,
GOLDSBORO, N. C., April 4, 1865.

General: I must now endeavor to group the events of the past three months connected with the armies under my command in order that you may have as clear an understanding of the late campaign as the case admits of. The reports of the subordinate commanders will enable you to fill up the picture.

MARCH FROM SAVANNAH.

I have heretofore explained how in the progress of our arms I was enabled to leave in the West an army under Major-General George H. Thomas of sufficient strength to meet emergencies in that quarter while in person I conducted another army, composed of the Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Seventeenth and Twentieth Corps, and Kilpatrick's division of cavalry, to the Atlantic slope, aiming to approach the grand theatre of war in Virginia by the time the season would admit of military operations in that latitude. The first lodgment on the coast was made at Savannah, strongly fortified and armed, and valuable to us as a good seaport with its navigable stream in hand. Near a month was consumed there refitting the army and in making the proper disposition of captured property and other local matters, but by the 15th of January I was ready to resume the march. Preliminary to this General Howard, commanding the right wing, was ordered to embark his command at Thunderbolt, transport it to Beaufort, South Carolina, and thence by the 15th of January make a lodgment on the Charleston railroad at or near Pocotaligo. This was accomplished punctually, at little cost, by the Seventeenth Corps, Major-General Blair, and a depot for supplies was established near the mouth of Pocotaligo creek, with easy water communication back to Hilton Head.

THE LEFT WING.

The left wing, Major General Slocum, and the cavalry, Major-General Kilpatrick, were ordered to rendezvous about the same time near Robertsville and Coosawhatchie, South Carolina, with a depot of supplies at Purysburg, or Sister's Ferry, on the Savannah river. General Slocum had a good pontoon bridge constructed opposite the city, and the "Union causeway" leading through the low rice fields opposite Savannah was repaired and "corduroyed," but before the time appointed to start the heavy rains of January had swelled the river, broken the pontoon bridge and overflowed the whole "bottom," so that the causeway was four feet under water, and General Slocum was compelled to look higher up for a passage over the Savannah river. He moved up to Sister's Ferry, but even there the river, with its overflowing bottoms, was near three miles wide, and he did not succeed in getting his whole wing across until during the first week of February.

In the meantime General Grant had sent me Grover's division of the Nineteenth Corps to garrison Savannah, and had drawn the Twenty-third Corps, Major General Schofield, from Tennessee, and sent it to reinforce the commands of Major Generals Terry and Palmer, operating on the coast of North Carolina, to prepare the way for my coming.

On the 18th of January I transferred the forts and city of Savannah to Major General Foster, commanding the Department of the South, imparted to him my plans of operation and instructed him how to follow my movements inland by occupying in succession the city of Charleston and such other points along the sea-coast as would be of any military value to us. The combined naval and land forces under Admiral Porter and General Terry had, on the 15th of January, captured Fort Fisher and the rebel forts at the mouth of Cape Fear river, giving me an additional point of security on the sea-coast. But I had already resolved in my own mind and had so advised General Grant, that I would undertake at one stride to make Goldsboro and communication with the sea by the Newbern railroad, and had ordered Colonel W. W. Wright, Superintendent of Military Railroads, to proceed in advance to Newbern, and be prepared to extend the railroad out from Newbern to Goldsboro by the 15th of March. On 19th of January all preparations were complete and the orders of march given. My Chief Quartermaster and Commissary, Generals Easton and Beckwith, were ordered to complete the supplies at Sister's Ferry and Pocotaligo, and then to follow our movements coastwise, looking for my arrival at Goldsboro, North Carolina, about March 15th, and opening communication with me from Morehead City.

CHARLESTON REFUSED.

On the 22d of January I embarked at Savannah for Hilton Head, where I held a conference with Admiral Dahlgren, United States Navy, and Major General Foster, commanding the department of the South, and next day proceeded to Beaufort, riding out thence on the 24th to Pocotaligo, where the Seventeenth Corps, Major General Blair, was encamped. The Fifteenth Corps was somewhat scattered—Wood and Hazen's divisions at Beaufort, John E. Smith marching from Savannah, cut off by the storms and freshet in the river. On the 25th a demonstration was made against the Combahee ferry and railroad bridge across the Salkahatchie, merely to amuse the enemy, who had evidently adopted that river as his defensive line against our supposed objective, the city of Charleston. I reconnoitered the line in person, and saw that the heavy rains had swollen the river so that water stood in the swamps for a breadth of more than a mile at a depth of from one to twenty feet. Not having the remotest intention of approaching Charleston, a comparatively small force was able, by seeming preparations to cross over to keep in their front a considerable force of the enemy disposed to contest our advance on Charleston. On the 27th I rode to the camp of General Hatch's division, of Foster's command, on the Tullafinney and Coosawhatchie rivers, and directed those places to be evacuated, as no longer of any use to us. That division was then moved to Pocotaligo, to keep up the feints already begun, until we should with the right wing move higher up and cross the Salkahatchie about River's or Broxton's Bridge. On the 29th I learned that the roads back of Savannah had at last become sufficiently free of the flood to admit of General Slocum putting his wing in motion, and that he was already approaching Sister's Ferry, whither a gunboat, the Pontiac, Capt. Luce, kindly furnished by Admiral Dahlgren, had preceded him, to cover the crossing. In the meantime three divisions of the Fifteenth corps had crossed the Pocotaligo, and the right wing had loaded its wagons and was ready to start. I therefore directed General Howard to move one corps, the Seventeenth, along the Salkahatchie, as high up as River's Bridge, and the other, the Fifteenth, by Hickory Hill, Loper's Cross Roads, Anglesey Post Office and Beaufort's Bridge. Hatch's division was ordered to remain at Pocotaligo, feigning at the Salkahatchie Railroad Bridge and Ferry until our movement turned the enemy's position and forced him to fall behind the Edisto.

MARCH ON BRANCHVILLE.

The Seventeenth and Fifteenth Corps drew out of camp on the 31st of January, but the real march began on the 1st of February. All the roads northward had for weeks been held by Wheeler's cavalry, who had by dint of negro laborers felled trees, burned bridges, and made obstructions to impede our march. But so well organized were our pioneer battalions, and so strong and intelligent our men, that obstructions seemed only to quicken their progress. Felled trees were removed and bridges rebuilt by the heads of the column before the rear could close up. On February 2d the Fifteenth corps reached Loper's Cross-Road, and the Seventeenth was at River's Bridge. From Loper's Cross Roads I communicated with General Slocum, still struggling with the floods of the Savannah river at Sister's Ferry. He had two divisions of the Twentieth corps, Geo. Williams, on the east bank, and was enabled to cross over on his pontoons the cavalry of Kilpatrick. General Williams was ordered to Beaufort's Bridge by way of Lawtonville and Allandale, Kilpatrick to Blackville via Barnwell and General Slocum to hurry the crossing at Sister's ferry as much as possible, and overtake the right wing on the South Carolina Railroad. General Howard with the right wing, was directed to cross the Salkehatchie and push rapidly for the South Carolina Railroad at or near Midway. The enemy held the line of the Salkahatchie in force, having infantry and artillery intrenched at River's and Beaufort's bridges. The Seventeenth Corps was ordered to carry River's bridge, and the Fifteenth Corps Beaufort's bridge. The former position was carried promptly and skillfully by Mower's and Giles A. Smith's divisions of the Seventeenth Corps, February 3d, by crossing the swamp, nearly three miles wide, with water varying from knee to shoulder deep. The weather was bitter cold, and Generals Mower and Smith led their divisions in person, on foot, waded the swamp, made a lodgment below the bridge, and turned on the rebel brigade which guarded it, driving it in confusion and disorder toward Branchville. Our casualties were one officer and seventeen men wounded, who were sent to Pocotaligo. The line of the Salkehatchie being thus broken, the enemy retreated at once behind the Edisto, at Branchville and the whole army was pushed rapidly to the South Carolina Railroad at Midway, Bamberg (or Lowry's Station) and Graham's Station. The Seventeenth Corps, by threatening Branchville, forced the enemy to burn the railroad bridge and Walker's bridge below, across the Edisto. All hands were at once set to work to destroy the railroad track. From the 7th to the 10th of February this work was thoroughly prosecuted by the Seventeenth Corps from the Edisto up to Bamberg, and by the Fifteenth Corps from Bamberg up to Blackville. In the meantime General Kilpatrick had brought his cavalry rapidly from Barnwell to Blackville, and had turned toward Aiken, with orders to threaten Augusta, but not to be drawn needlessly into a serious battle. This he skillfully accomplished, skirmishing heavily with Wheeler's cavalry, first at Blackville, and afterward at Williston and Aiken. General Williams, with two divisions of the Twentieth Corps, marched to the South Carolina Railroad at Graham's Station on the 8th, and General Slocum reached Blackville on the 10th. The destruction of the railroad was continued by the left wing from Blackville up to Windsor. By the 11th of February all the army was on the railroad from Midway to Johnson's Station, thereby dividing the enemy's forces, which still remained at Branchville and Charleston on the one hand, and Aiken and Augusta on the other.

MANUFACTORY:

182, 184, 186, 188, 190 and 192 Mott street, New York

Motto:—"The Singer Sewing Machines are the only Machines that can Sew all kinds of Cloth, and with all kinds of Thread."

Singer's Letter A Family Machine is the best and cheapest Machine in the world for Family Sewing. There is no doubt as to the value of our Machines for manufacturing purposes, but it is only of late that the public began to learn that the essential elements of a Machine [illegible] adapted to all classes of work would also be the elements to be embodied in a Family Machine.

We would ask for our Letter A Machines the attention of Vest Makers, Dress Makers, and all those who want Machines for light Manufacturing Purposes. They embody the principles of the Manufacturing Machines, making, like them, the interlocked stitch, and are just as celebrated for FAMILY SEWING and light Manufacturing purposes as our Manufacturing Machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINES are becoming as popular as the number of things they can do well. [illegible] want ourselves to take no risk in purchase.

All persons desiring information about Sewing Machines, their sizes, prices, working capacities and the best methods of purchasing can obtain it by sending for a copy of "SINGER & CO.'S GAZETTE," which is a beautiful Pictorial Paper entirely devoted to the subject. IT WILL BE SENT GRATIS.

ALLEN'S
LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus, CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW YORK, September 2, 1864.

F. TILMAN, Esq., 218 Battery street,
Between Commercial and Clay, San Francisco.

DEAR SIR, WE NOTICE AN ADvertisement in your daily papers respecting the "Lillie" of the "Lillie" lock. We are aware that you well understand the lock, and, of course, will hold yourself to the amount of [illegible] just sent for one of our men at the lock, and he in the presence of [illegible] one of Lillie's best safes [illegible] the lock and the combination turned out.

The whole time occupied in opening the lock was about ONE MINUTE. We send you this lock that you may not be deceived by false representations, etc.

GLOUCESTER, March 29, 1864.

Messrs. TILTON & McFARLAND,
Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen: From representations made by Mr. Lillie, I was induced to purchase of him one of his

So Called "Fire Proof Safes"

On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our Block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so called "Lillie" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe, with what is left of the contents and you will see that not one of them is legible, or strong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we found McKinney & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make) and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Condition.

This led us to further investigation, and much to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar, such as lard, pork, etc., their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. We were another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same, faring, however, no better than ours.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,
(Signed:) GEO. L. CHESEBRO & CO.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals of Europe, among them those of Dublin, London and Paris. The following celebrated hospitals of London are among those visited by the Doctor: Guy's, Bedford, Borough; St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Camb. Place, Pad.; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street, Westminster, Broad Sanctuary, Charing Cross, Agar street, and London, Whitechapel road; Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Doctors Acton, of London, Parker of Birmingham, England, and Ricord of Paris, who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world, and whose authority is acknowledged to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Diseases.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret Indulgences, or poison absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, blotched and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, that they are cured soon and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing on the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful to make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will forfeit One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give each patient a written instrument, binding himself to a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co.

Prevention Better than Cure.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are found in the daily and weekly newspapers of this city, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to follow their trades. Some are thimble riggers, shoemakers, patent vendors, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look in the San Francisco Directory and you will not find them. Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their occupations in it. Look in the Directory for 1859. The only way to avoid imposition is to inquire—it will cost you nothing and may save you regrets, for, as advertising physicians, in nine cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Their tale will satisfy persons who may call at his office, of his ability to treat all cases that he proposes to.
